CHAPTER ONE

The Echo in the Upside Down

The sky above Hawkins cracked like broken glass. Red lightning crawled through the clouds while ash floated like snow. Steve Harrington gripped a nail bat he swore he retired years ago. Dustin whispered, 'I heard something... a guitar.' Far away, through dead trees, a familiar riff echoed. A figure stepped forward. Leather jacket. Guitar. Red eyes. 'Eddie?' Dustin whispered. The figure froze. A voice echoed: 'He belongs to me.' Vecna. Eddie whispered one warning: 'Dustin... run.' Something massive was coming. To be continued...
